INTRODUCTION

Clergymen of all of the major religious faiths of the United States have been navy chaplains since the beginning of our national history. Chaplains served in the Continental Navy. An unbroken succession of chaplains has been with the United States Navy since the days of its inception, though for seventy years and more the total number on duty was limited to twenty-four. The Corps grew to more than 200 during World War I. A comparatively tremendous increase took place in World War II when as many as 2,081 chaplains were on duty for varying periods of time. All but about four percent of these entered the Corps as Reserves.

A need has been felt for some time by larger libraries, theological seminaries, denominational headquarters, and by chaplains themselves for a "Who's Who" of the Navy chaplaincy. This volume has been designated to set forth in concise form abbreviated biographical material, so far as ascertainable, of every chaplain known to have served in the Navy, and his service-record. The tremendous amount of research needed to compile such a volume (with about 200,000 dates to be verified), combined with difficulties inherent in having a limited and sometimes a changing office force, has, no doubt, made some mistakes inevitable. Any errors, with the corrected information, should be reported to this office so that due record may be made in the official copy.

Chaplain Drury, with his wide experience in historical writing, has given months of painstaking and patient effort to this work. For this contribution the Corps will ever be indebted to him.

William N. Thomas
Chief of Chaplains, USN

PREFACE

This volume gives the biographical and service-record sketches of 3,353 chaplains who have served in the United States Navy from its beginning down to 31 December 1945.¹ Reserves chaplains who had no active duty outside of short training periods have not been included. This book is the third of a series presenting the history of the Chaplain Corps of the United States Navy. Volumes I and II, presenting the history of the Corps in narrative from the beginning of the Navy through 1946, are to appear as non-Government publications.

An appendix of volume I gives a chronological list of 471 chaplains, with the names arranged alphabetically within the years, who served prior to 8 September 1939. A similar appendix will be found in volume II, containing the names of 2,882 who entered the naval chaplaincy after President Roosevelt's declaration of the existence of a state of national emergency, on 8 September 1939. There were ninety-four Regular Navy Chaplains, whose names are listed in volume I, whose service extended into the period covered by volume II. A list of chaplains, according to their ecclesiastical affiliations, is to be found in an appendix of this volume.

The sketches which follow are arranged in alphabetical order. The contents of each sketch are contained in not more than four paragraphs:

- (1) Biographical information - name in full; denomination affiliation; place and date of birth; record of higher education, with degrees received and dates; Phi Beta Kappa, if a member; name of ordaining bishop or body with date of ordination; date and nature of change of ecclesiastical affiliation, if any; maiden name of wife with date of marriage and number of children; last civilian occupation before accepting duty in the Navy; and titles of books published.
- (2) Previous military service prior to the acceptance of an appointment or commission as a chaplain, with list of medals (exclusive of Victory Medal)² or honors received from such service.
- (3) Service record as a chaplain beginning with kind of appointment or commission, date, rank, chronological list of duties, dates of promotion or of transfer from one branch to another, list of medals as far as ascertainable (exclusive of campaign medals or ribbons for World War II)³ or honors, date of separation from the service, and date and place of death (unless the chaplain served but a short time in the Navy, in which case the information about his death will be given in the first paragraph.) The date of release from active duty for World War II chaplains indicates the end of terminal leave, when such is known.
- (4) Pertinent information of special interest not included in any of the three previous paragraphs.

1. With service-records continued through 1946.

2. All who served in World War I received Victory Medals with appropriate clasps, to indicate duty afloat or overseas, or battle stars.

3. All who served in World War II received Victory ribbons. It is assumed that the Medals will be issued later. Available data do not make it possible to list all campaign medals and ribbons with battle or campaign stars awarded in World War II.

Every effort has been made to make the sketches correct and complete, according to the adopted plan of style and content. Some information regarding the earlier chaplains was found in such files as "Officer's Letters" in the Naval Records Collection, National Archives. An examination of many logs of ships for the years 1800-1830, on file in the Naval Records Collection, produced the names of sixty unordained "chaplains" who served for the duration of a cruise. Such men are indicated by the symbol "s" and sometimes their pay number is included in parentheses after the name of the ship on which each served.

Other data were secured from the historical material gathered by Chaplains Boes, Tribou, Neyman, and Edel; from general catalogs of theological seminaries and other reference books; from the individual chaplain's jacket in the Navy Department; or in the correspondence files of the Chief of Chaplains' office.

An official questionnaire requesting biographical information was included in the Navy Department Semi-Monthly Bulletin of 30 November 1944. This provided further information.

Official records of the Navy Department are not always consistent in the beginning and closing dates of tours of duty. Such differences arise out of the dates of issuance of orders and actual date of detachment or of reporting for duty. Ordinarily, dates and information about additional duty, temporary duty, or periods spent in a hospital as a patient, are not included. Usually, mention has not been made of regular duty for periods of two weeks or less. Due to some confused or inadequate records, the dates and types of duty of chaplains serving in combat areas, especially in World War II, are not always clearly or accurately indicated.

The following examples of abbreviations used are given to indicate the status of a chaplain at the time of the commencement of his service in the Navy:

- (a) "Chap," - indicates men appointed from the ship's company who served for the cruise without having an official appointment or commission from the Navy Department.
- (b) "Appt, Chap, USN, 12 Jul 1890; comm 3 Mar 01," - indicates that the chaplain served first under an appointment by the Secretary of the Navy, which later was confirmed by action of the United States Senate. In some cases the appointment was not confirmed or the date of such is unknown.
- (c) "Comm, Chap, USN," - indicates chaplains who were granted relative rank under the Navy Department directive of 13 March 1863, and subsequent rulings. The date of commission indicates date of original appointment or date of rank.
- (d) "Comm, Lt, ChC, USN," - indicates chaplains who received actual rank under provisions of the Act of 3 March 1899.
- (e) "Appt, Act Chap, USN," - indicates chaplains who were serving the three-year probationary period before being commissioned as Lieutenants (jr), ChC, under the provisions of the Act of 30 June 1914. After the date of this Act no chaplain has been commissioned directly into the FSN without serving his probationary period.
- (f) "Comm, Lt, ChC-V(S), USNR," or "Comm, Lt, ChC-V(G), USNR," - indicates chaplains who were commissioned in the Naval Reserve, under authority of the Act of 28 February 1925.

The asterisk (*) indicates that the chaplain is deceased. Where the actual date of death is unknown, the asterisk is also used if the individual concerned were born prior to 1860 or commissioned prior to 1885. If a Catholic chaplain is a member of an order, the name of the order will be indicated by an abbreviation in parenthesis after the letters HC (i.e., Roman Catholic).

In order to conserve space, a comma is used to do double duty for both a period and a comma; the full name of the calendar year is given only at the beginning of a paragraph and at the turn of a century; where no year date is given, it may be assumed that the year is the same as in the preceding record; the names of large cities are given without indicating the states in which they are located; Portsmouth, New Hampshire, is referred to simply as Portsmouth without reference to the state; Charleston refers to Charleston, South Carolina; reference to other cities with either of these names is followed by the abbreviation of the states in which they are located.

The following list of abbreviations used in the biographical and service-record sketches does not include the ordinary abbreviations for cities, states, months, and the compass, which are commonly accepted. The abbreviation "dis" - discharged, dismissed - was often used without prejudice in the early years of the Navy.

During World War II, the Navy used code names, as "Cub" and "Acorn", to indicate advance base units. Navy post office numbers were also assigned to overseas bases, the locations of which were at the time classified as secret.

APPENDIX A

INDEX OF ECCLESIASTICAL AFFILIATIONS

The following classification of the ecclesiastical affiliations of chaplains is obviously not consistent in the break-down of denominational groups. The Methodists and Presbyterians are sub-divided more than the Lutherans. However, since this classification was in use in the Chaplains Division when the service-record sketches were compiled, it was adopted without major changes. In cases where the sub-classification of a chaplain is not known, he is listed with the parent denomination.

The year indicates the date of commission, which is usually the time a chaplain reported for duty. It should be noted, however, that Reserve chaplains, who entered the Corps prior to 1939, usually held their commission for several years before being called to active duty. The number in parenthesis after the title indicates the total.
